2016-2017

Hello Overnight Volunteers,

Thank you for giving up your time to assist our Directors with this special trip. I have attached a list of guidelines you will need to follow. Most of you have gone thru this process before so forgive me for being repetitive but when it comes to the safety of our student, I would rather be safe than sorry.

Besides our standard guidelines, please remember that you are there for the students. Please make yourself available to them at all times. The director is there solely for the purpose of the event and student safety. This means that you should be able to handle all minor issues without necessarily involving the Director. By all means let them know of any serious concerns but your main job is to take care of all students (not just your student) and allow The Director to do what they do best and that's to do their job.

You will need to discuss with the Director about curfews and room checks. As always, students are not allowed to enter into the opposite sex rooms for any reason. You as a chaperone should not go inside the room of a student of the opposite sex unless it's an emergency. Please don't put yourself in a compromising position.

Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions or concerns. Again, thank you for volunteering and have fun with the students.

Oasis Coordinator
